

FRONTIERS IN ESG:

ACADEMIC RESEARCH FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

Discussing ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) practices in academic research is crucial for fostering responsible innovation, informing policies, enhancing institutional reputation, and contributing to a more sustainable, ethical, and equitable world.

May 5th,
10.00 am to 1.00 pm
(with one coffee break)

Location: NIK,
board room 4.01

EVENT HIGHLIGHTS

Discover Emerging Research – Hear from PhD students presenting on ESG topics, from sustainable IT solutions to corporate social responsibility, environmental policies, and governance frameworks.

Engage in Interactive Discussions – Participate in Q&A sessions and a dynamic panel discussion on the future of ESG research.

Explore the Relevance of ESG – Learn how academic research contributes to sustainable development, ethical practices, and long-term value creation.

Contact us

Ms. Viktoria Tafferner

tafferner.viktoria@uni-obuda.hu

until April 20th, 2025.

